MOST UNSETTLED PERIOD SINCE THE LATE WORLD WAR

BULGARIA AND PORTUGAL IN BLOOD BATHS OF REVOLTS

FRANCE AND BELGIUM IN THE THROES OF GOVERNMENT CHANGES

(By United Press)
London, April 20.—Europe with adjacent feasting in North Africa and Near East, is finishing April in the midst of the most unsettled period the Old World has known since the war.

In addition to the blood baths of Bulgaria and Portugal, France and Belgium are in the throes of governmental changes, while Germany has revived the issue of Republicanism vs. Monarchy.

Italy is engaged in suppressing the Sanussi, while Spain is fighting the Riffs and Turkey is doing its utmost to mop up the Kurds.

While the Bulgarian government has its hands full rounding up Communists and repressing "fight" or revolt that followed the outrage at Sofia cathedral, when more than 150, including many women and children, were killed, it is fairly well established that there is no organized revolution in that country.

Reports from such unfriendly sources as Trieste and Athens told of progress of a revolt, but latest word from official sources is that an incipient revolt was checked — due principally to the failure of the attempt to assassinate King Boris. A revolt that broke out in Portugal on Saturday morning was put down after a day of fighting.

For the moment, the armies of Spain, Italy and Turkey appear to have the upper hand in fighting with their dependents. General Primo de Rivero, head of Spain's directory, reported on Sunday that the situation in Morocco was satisfactory—Spanish troops having been withdrawn to a line which they were able to defend against the Riffs.

KENT COOPER NEW MANAGER OF ASSOCIATED PRESS

ANNOUNCEMENT OF APPOINTMENT RECEIVED WITH GENERAL SATISFACTION

SERVED WITH UNITED PRESS, ACTIVE IN ITS EARLY DEVELOPMENT

(By United Press)
New York, April 20.—Kent Cooper is the new general manager of the Associated Press. Announcement of his appointment by the Board of Directors of the organization was made by President Frank B. Noyes and received today with general satisfaction by Associated Press editors assembled here in their 25th annual meeting. Cooper succeeds Frederick Roy Martin who recently resigned to take up other lines of work.

The newly elected general manager has long been regarded as one of the strong men in the Associated Press organization. He was born in Columbus, Ind., 45 years ago and began his newspaper career at an early age, taking it up in earnest on Indiana newspapers after his graduation from Indiana University.

In 1901 he established a reputation for himself as an able and energetic reporter in Indianapolis and later became the Indianapolis representative of the old Scripps-McRae press association.

With the organization of the United Press association in 1907, Cooper became associated with that institution and was active in the early development of the United Press, both in the editorial and business departments.

Then for a short time Cooper left newspaper work to enter another business field, but finding his interest in his original calling predominant, he returned and in 1910 joined the Associated Press.

DEFENSE IN WHEELER CASE WINS A POINT

ALL EVIDENCE RELATING TO ONE COUNT OF INDICTMENT RULED OUT

NOT NOW RELEVANT UNDER LAW, SAID THE TRIAL JUDGE

(By United Press)
Federal Court Room, Great Falls, Mont., April 20.—The defense in the trial of Senator Burton K. Wheeler on a charge of misuse of office today won an important victory when Judge Frank S. Dietrich ruled out all evidence relating to one count of the indictment.

Judge Dietrich refused to permit the prosecution to introduce matter pertaining to the Lincoln oil permit obtained by Gordon Campbell, Montana oil operator, from the interior department.

The evidence was excluded on the grounds that at the time Senator Wheeler was retained as counsel for Campbell all matters concerning the Lincoln permit were pending before the interior department.

"It is not now relevant under the law," Judge Dietrich said.

"Some additional evidence may be produced later which would allow the prosecution to go into this matter."

A. M. BURT OF NORTHERN PACIFIC DIED NEAR NOON

WAS IN CHARGE OF OPERATION OF THE RAILWAY SYSTEM

(By United Press)
Jamestown, N. D., April 20.—A. M. Burt, vice-president of the Northern Pacific railroad, St. Paul, died at 12:55 at a hospital here from pneumonia and complications. Railroad officials and his family were alarmed as he rapidly became worse Sunday. Since early this morning Burt was kept alive by administering oxygen. GOVERNOR HAS SIGNED 260 BILLS TO DATE

LEGISLATURE TO PASS 100 LESS LAWS THAN SESSION TWO YEARS AGO

CONFERENCE COMMITTEES ACTING ON THE TRAFFIC CODE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 20.—The legislature will pass about 100 less laws than the session two years ago, it now appears.

So far the governor has signed 260 bills. Around 100 more are expected to reach him after the session today and tomorrow. No bills can be passed after midnight tomorrow, though, if there is a rush at this time, the procedure undoubtedly will be resorted to of turning the official clock back in both houses and senate. Both houses will adjourn sine die at noon Wednesday. The 1923 legislature and its predecessors in 1921 both passed more than 500 laws. It is not believed the number will run much above 400 at this time. At the opening of the session, the governor advised in his inaugural address against the passage of too many laws. He has repeatedly emphasized this view. Apparently the legislature has decided to agree with him.

The senate today again took up the omnibus game and fish bill which passed the house last week and was being debated in the senate Friday afternoon when the report of the conference committee on the bill for reorganization of the state government stalled further consideration of it at that time.

This is the only big measure outside of appropriation bills awaiting action. The state department appropriation bill is now in conference committee. A report is expected late today after which the bill will be repassed by each house. The senate provided for $1,212,500 more appropriations in this bill than the house did. The house passed the educational appropriation bill totaling more than $20,000,000 last week. The senate has yet to act on it.

The only other large appropriation measure is one providing about $500,000 for payment of claims against the state.

Conference committees began work today straightening out differences between the two houses on the traffic code.

In the next minute, when a vote was taken on repassage of the bill, enough senators shifted their vote to give the bill a 47 to 19 victory. The governor is expected to sign the bill early this week.

Walter Dillon, milk truck driver, witnessed the accident. He pulled Miss McLaren, Puga and Regan to safety, but the other four occupants of the car were drowned before they could be reached.

Deputy Coroner A. O. Voges went to the scene to investigate. He pronounced the deaths accidental.

DEATH OF ONE DAY REST BILL SEEN

LABOR UNABLE TO MAKE IT SPECIAL ORDER IN HOUSE

St. Paul, April 20.—Labor members of the house lacked nine votes Friday night of having enough to make the one day of rest bill a special order during closing days of the legislative session.

A new measure to meet the court's ing for one day of rest in certain occupations, but the law was held unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

A new measure to meet the court's objections was introduced early in the present session. Most of the time since it has been in the labor committee. Finally it was reported out without recommendation.

Rep. Frank T. Starkey, St. Paul, moved for the special order. There were 78 votes cast for his motion, but it requires 87, or two-thirds of the house, to make a special order.

It is doubtful if the bill can be reached now for a vote. This is the only bill for which labor has asked special consideration since the legislature met.

WOMAN ADMITS POISONING TEN PEOPLE IN 8 YEARS

MRS. EMANUEL SORENSON, AGE 25, MAKES CONFESSION IN ST. PAUL

KILLED ONE CHILD BECAUSE IT HAD THE ST. VITUS DANCE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 20.—Mrs. Emanuel Sorenson, 25 years old, wife of a Danneborg laborer and a paranoiac with a mind of "an eight-year-old" Sunday confessed to County Attorney Doabrey she had administered poison to ten persons over a period of eight years. Seven of the victims died.

Two of the children, victims, were poisoned "because I had it in for their mother who gossiped about me" the written statement said. Poison was given her husband in his medicine a short time after disagreement, Mrs. Sorenson said.

Mrs. Sorenson felt "sorry" for her infant victims and gave them poison to "end their misery" she told the attorney. One of her own children was killed because it had St. Vitus dance and she wanted to "relieve her suffering."

In the case of the other two family victims, her second child was despatched because "it was too much trouble to care for" and her mother-in-law fell victim to the mania because she became old and feeble and a burden on her young daughter-in-law's hands.

Investigation of the long series of the poison deaths started about three weeks ago Doabrey said when two children among visitors at the Sorenson home became suddenly and violently ill, but subsequently recovered. Tests showed that strong doses of poison had been given the children.

Mrs. Sorenson will probably be taken to the state insane asylum at Hastings today, having been adjudged insane late Saturday. No prosecution will be made because of her mental condition.

KILLED ONE CHILD BECAUSE IT HAD THE ST. VITUS DANCE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, April 20.—Mrs. Emanuel Sorenson, 25 years old, wife of a Dannebrog laborer and a paranoiac with a mind of "an eight-year-old" Sunday confessed to County Attorney Doabrey she had administered poison to ten persons over a period of eight years. Seven of the victims died.

Two of the children, victims, were poisoned "because I had it in for their mother who gossiped about me" the written statement said. Poison was given her husband in his medicine a short time after disagreement, Mrs. Sorenson said.

Mrs. Sorenson felt "sorry" for her infant victims and gave them poison to "end their misery" she told the attorney. One of her own children was killed because it had St. Vitus dance and she wanted to "relieve her suffering."

In the case of the other two family victims, her second child was despatched because "it was too much trouble to care for" and her mother-in-law fell victim to the mania because she became old and feeble and a burden on her young daughter-in-law's hands.

Investigation of the long series of the poison deaths started about three weeks ago Doabrey said when two children among visitors at the Sorenson home became suddenly and violently ill, but subsequently recovered. Tests showed that strong doses of poison had been given the children.

Mrs. Sorenson will probably be taken to the state insane asylum at Hastings today, having been adjudged insane late Saturday. No prosecution will be made because of her mental condition.

DULUTH SNOW BENEFITS FARMERS

FOUR AND A HALF INCHES FALLING SUNDAY, MELTING SLOWLY

(By United Press)
Duluth, April 20.—Sunday's snowfall was melting today.

The 4½ inches of snow which fell during the day proved a blessing to farmers and foresters—since it brought moisture to seeded fields and eliminated forest fire hazards. The north woods has been unusually dry for this time of year and many small fires have been reported in the last several days.

Warmer weather will follow the snow according to the weather bureau.

W. J. CANAN

PASSED AWAY

Was Foreman of the Local Northern Pacific Round-house

WELL KNOWN IN THE CITY

Was Member of Knights of Columbus and Foreman's Organization at N. P. Shops

W. J. Canan, foreman of the local Northern Pacific roundhouse, and well known in the city, passed away at a local hospital at 4:25 o'clock Sunday morning, death resulting from an attack of influenza. He was taken sick while at work on Friday, April 10th, but his condition was not considered serious until the next Thursday, when he was taken to the hospital. Even at that time and later he planned on returning home Sunday.

Mr. Canan was born at Marshall, Michigan, October 9th, 1855. He came to Brainerd with his parents and other families from Jackson, Michigan, in 1883, at a time when the railroad was planning an extensive expansion program. He left Brainerd two years later, and was away from the city until 1912, and has made his home here ever since.

In February, 1887 he was united in marriage to Miss Katherine Spillane, who passed away at Laurel, Montana, October 9th, 1911. She was brought back to Brainerd for burial.

Six children were born to this union, being Wilfred, of St. Paul; Frank, of Ignace, Canada; Gerald, of Seattle; Milton, chief engineer on an ocean liner plying between Galveston, Texas and Bremen, Germany; Katherine, of Chicago, and Eleanor, who lived with her father. There are five grandchildren.

In addition to his children, Mr. Canan is survived by four sisters and one brother, Miss Marie A. Canan, of Brainerd, Mrs. J. F. Quinlan, of Pittsburg, Kansas, Mrs. Sarah Lineman, of Crosby, Mrs. J. P. Early, of Brainerd and Joseph Canan of Chicago.

Mr. Canan was a member of the local Knights of Columbus and the foreman's organization at the N. P. shops.

The remains may be viewed by friends on Tuesday at the B. C. McNamara chapel, and will be taken on that evening to the Knights of Columbus club rooms, where they will lie in state until the hour of the funeral.

The funeral will be held from the K. C. club rooms to St. Francis Catholic church, where requiem high mass will be celebrated at 8:20 o'clock Wednesday morning. Interment will be in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery, beside his wife. His parents and several relatives are also buried there. Pallbearers will be chosen from his associates at the shops and from the Knights of Columbus.

The sorrowing relatives have the sincere sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement.

LADIES BAND GAINS PLAUDITS

Made Fine Appearance and Gave Splendid Numbers at the Elks Kermess and Parade

ATTRACT MUCH ATTENTION

Many People From St. Cloud, Minneapolis, Pine River, Breezy Point, U. C. Travelers at Kermess

The Brainerd Ladies band, in their first public appearance Saturday night, played well at the Elks Kermess and in the parade and gained enthusiastic applause. They played with precision and wonderful expression. They marched well and carried their instruments like professionals. At the corner of Sixth and Front the band played another selection and applause and the roar of hundreds of car horns added to the din expressing appreciation.

Preceded by a troop of mounted Elks led by Andy Smracker and Hank Anderson, and Barney Larson, Alton Fox, Eddie Wallace and Albert Broman, attired in gay matedore uniforms, the parade though short, attracted universal attention.

At the Kermess, Saturday night was the closing night and it drew attendance from St. Cloud, Minneapolis, Pine River, Pillager, Breezy Point, Crosby, Ironton, Deerwood and other towns. Minneapolis delegation included many prominent Elks from No. 44.

The United Commercial Travelers of Brainerd Council were out in force being led by Senior Counselor John F. Hurley and Past eSenior Counselor Charles W. Gustafson.

REFILLING OF LAKE IS HELD ILLEGAL

BALD EAGLE RESIDENTS CAN'T GET BACK THE WATER THE CITY TOOK

St. Paul, April 20. — The water board cannot replace the water taken from Bald Eagle lake.

This declaration was contained in an opinion submitted to the board by E. M. O'Neill, assistant city attorney.

Residents at the lake requested the county board to replace the three and one-half feet of water taken from Bald Eagle lake to prevent a water famine in St. Paul.

The county board referred the request to the water board. The board was willing to replace the water, but there was some question as to its authority to do so.

An appropriation to refill Bald Eagle lake, he said, would be in the nature of a gratuity because the board is under no legal obligation to return water it takes for use in the city.

Might at Least Do That
A society has been formed, each member of which has to sow a packet of flower seeds along country roads. We presume that motorists are expected to stop long enough to pluck blossoms for a wreath to lay on each fallen pedestrian.—London Opinion.

Wrinkles Disappear in Fifteen Minutes!

If you want to see wrinkles, age lines and sagging completely disappear from your face in less than 15 minutes, just mix a spoonful of powdered tartar with a spoonful of lemon juice. Apply this soothing mixture to your face. Before your very eyes, while you watch in the mirror, the ugly marks of age will disappear like magic. It is most startling. Behold, now, what you looked like when young! Watch the "saggingness" correct itself. Enjoy the strange, delicious sensation of stimulation, support and plump, smooth firmness! When you wash off the application, your face looks years younger. The effect is far better than that of a face massage. Tartar is so harmless you could eat it. From your druggist you can obtain a package containing enough to bring the cost of each treatment down below three cents.

PIONEER MARL CO. FORCED OUT

MINERAL PROPERTY HOLDER ASKS UNREASONABLE CASH BONUS

(From The Backus Tribune)
From present indications, it is the sad job of The Tribune to report that the Pioneer Lime & Marl Co. has finally decided to withdraw their interest from Backus and the local marl deposits.

For more than a year the Marl Co., as it was familiarly known in this community, has been experimenting with marl from which to manufacture numerous articles, such as plaster, tooth paste, etc., as well as to dig the marl as a soil rectifier, or fertilizer. The company has been satisfied that marl has a commercial value but that the marl should be dried before it could be sold in large quantities. To prove its contention, the company constructed a temporary marl drier on its property north of the village. Although the drier did not do as good work as was expected, the drying process was satisfactory, to a certain extent. The company was satisfied enough with its progress to expend about $5,000 on its Backus property before acquiring more than one-half of the mineral rights in their marl deposits. The land that the company purchased belonged to the Koop estate of Brainerd. It appears that most of the Koop heirs have been reasonable in their demands for a royalty from the marl to be used by the Pioneer Company, but it is said that one of the heirs, Grover Koop, of Jamestown, N. D., has insisted on receiving a cash bonus of $25,000 and a royalty of 25 cents per ton, and also had the temerity to demand that the company use a minimum of something like 200,000 tons annually.

Talk about your get-rich-quick propositions! Mr. Grover Koop was going to have it handed to him or take nothing—we think that he will take nothing and receive twice as much. The Pioneer Marl Company, according to Dr. Frank Foulk, who was here Saturday with a chemist and other interested parties, has decided to move their Backus equipment and machinery to Bemidji on another marl bed, where the city of Bemidji will give a bonus to have the company start operations at once. The drier and tools will be moved to Bemidji within a few days, if present plans mature. Backus farmers who will lose the advantages of a marl company at their very doors, as well as the village, can place the blame for the loss of the Pioneer Lime & Marl Co. upon the shoulders of a man who tried to get too much for nothing.

We are reliably informed that the Marl Company would be willing to pay the Koop heirs a very reasonable royalty per ton while they were experimenting here and continue the royalty if the marl proved to have a commercial value as a manufactured article.

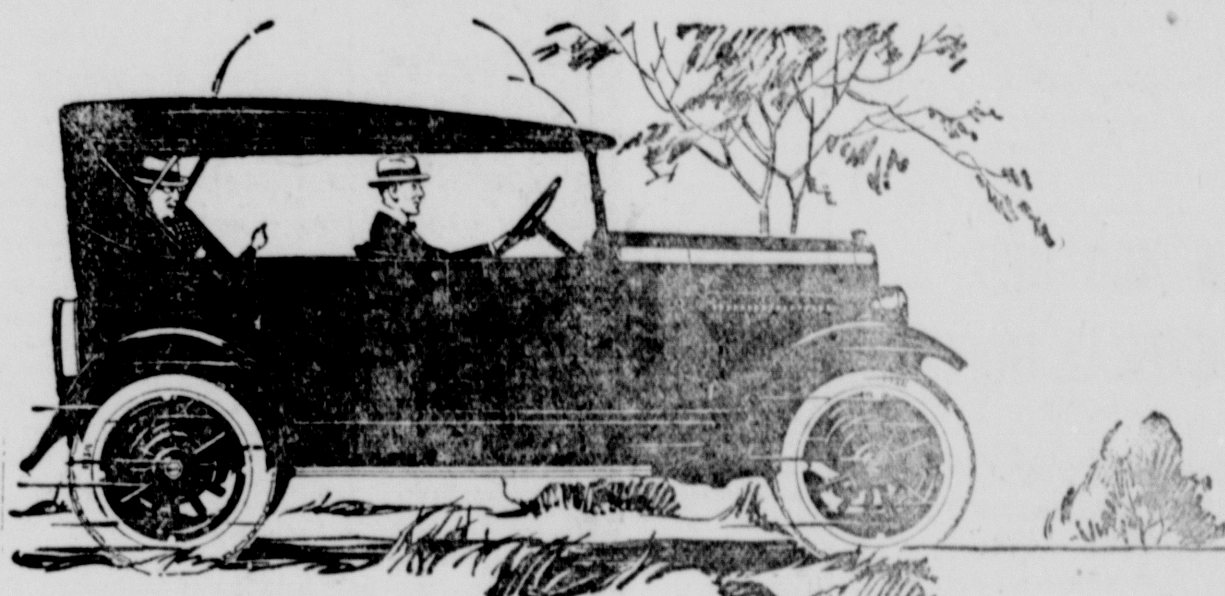

The Tribune is informed that the Marl Company has a large marl bed near Gary, Indiana, and will begin to work it this summer.

We have learned that a local party who holds the mineral rights to another piece of marl property will see that a marl excavator is brought here this spring and raw marl excavated for local use. If this party can find carload buyers, he will also attend to large orders.

Backus will not give up hope that one of its many marl deposits will be used to commercial advantage before long, even if the Pioneer Lime & Marl Co. was forced to leave us.

Advancing the Torch Light of Service

"Too many of us," says Floyd W. Parsons, "are like the lightning bug, that has a torch on the rear end. He can see where he has been, but not where he is going."

A brilliant torch is the ideal of service, held in front of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) continually lighting it to fresh paths of progress, illuminating the way to unexpected discoveries and scientific advances.

Progress in the oil industry within the last few years has been phenomenal. Conservation has acquired a positive and constructive aspect. Thrift rules. Mechanical inventions have cut the cost of refining. Obstacles to widespread distribution of oil products have been eliminated. The entire tendency is in the direction of more and more gasoline derived from a given quantity of crude oil.

These valuable contributions have been largely pioneered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which now, as always, is inspired to leadership by the will to serve society. Each contribution has played a part in holding down the price of gasoline and in making gasoline available to everyone, everywhere. This has meant a definite stimulus to the higher living standards of our day. It has made the automobile possible to employes as well as to employers; to poor as well as rich; to suburbanites as well as urbanites.

It is in this direction that true democracy lies, and it is in this direction that the torch-light of service guides.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is looking ahead, building for the future, as well as serving the needs of the present.

This Company has saved, through improved equipment and processes, hundreds of thousands of barrels of petroleum, with consequent holding down of the price of gasoline, through increasing the supply available to meet the demand.

This Company recognizes its moral responsibility to provide the large amount of gasoline demanded by the 30 million people of the Middle West, to make this available at rush seasons and in all places frequented by automobile tourists. This recognition of responsibility and the determination to serve the motoring public to the fullest extent possible, are the torches which illuminate the onward march of the activities of this organization.

A CHANGING MAY DAY

MAY DAY used to be a children's holiday. "Of all the glad New Year, mother, the maddest, merriest day," Tennyson's May Queen described it. More recently Marxian materialists designated May Day as the anniversary of the Revolution in prospect—always in prospect. Some, uneasy of conscience, "saw red" and favored hempen ropes as substituted for May-pole streamers. It spoiled the day.

A change has come. We have advanced in social legislation. There is a reaction from some evils of industrialism. There is more of a social consciousness. Much of what an earlier generation denounced and damned as "socialism" is now accepted as a matter of course. The state recognizes responsibility for unfortunate who are unable to care for themselves. Gradually we are discovering that some experiments in public charity once regarded as extreme are nothing of the sort.

Widows' pensions furnish a good example. Granting that the public conscience would not permit children to starve after the death of their fathers, we have discovered that it is better to help mothers to care for their children than to confine the children in an orphan asylum. It is cheaper, too. We are beginning to wonder whether it may not be better—and in the long run more economical—to pay attention to child health now and save hospital expense later. It might be good business to spend more to provide prevention and less for cure.

May Day this year will go back to its own—and better. It will be not merely a children's holiday, "a mad, merry day," but National Child Health Day. Led by the American Child Health Association, under Secretary of Commerce Hoover, the whole country will take note of health. The changed May Day ought to become a national habit.

CONTROL OF OUR STREET LIGHTING

It has always been our opinion that the control and maintenance of our street lighting rests with the City Council. We have been informed by a member of the Water and Light Board that a year ago the City Council delegated the authority of control and maintenance to the Water and Light Board, and that the Board accepted the responsibility only under certain conditions.

Now it develops that this change was made in the interest of economy and better street illumination. The City Council levies each year 3 mills on the assessed valuation to cover the cost of fire service, as hydrant rental, and the cost of electric current and maintenance for street lighting. The Council would designate where the street lights should go, but usually paid little regard as to whether the fund was sufficient to pay for the increases. A few years ago, the Water and Light Board supported an amendment to the charter increasing this rate, because it was shown that the sum raised was only half large enough to pay adequately for the service. It was voted down, and in doing so, the taxpayer shifted a part of his burden upon the Board.

Now that the Council has actually passed this problem to the Board, the Board must re-arrange the present expensive and cumbersome system in order to reduce the cost of maintenance; at the same time, the city will have better street illumination.

STREET LIGHTING IMPROVEMENTS

IN connection with the improvements to be made in our street lighting system, we should bring to the attention of our citizens a very important matter. It is well known to all that if a system is not kept up, it will deteriorate very rapidly. A few dollars spent today in proper upkeep will save several hundred a few years from now.

The city's 3 mill fund for hydrant rental and street lighting yields less than $9,000. Assume that one-half goes to the water department and one-half to the light department. It is easy to see that $4,500 would barely pay for the current and leaves nothing for upkeep and extensions.

The Water and Light Board has accepted from the Council the work of remaking the street lighting system; and instead of having the Council float a bond issue or amend the charter, the Board is taking the money needed out of its earnings and with it is putting our street lighting into good order.

Some people wonder what the Board does with its earnings. It has made a water main extension into West Brainerd and carried the load instead of selling bonds which had been voted by the citizens, and now, as another example, it is rebuilding the lighting system before it becomes necessary for the Council to raise money by voting bonds.

TRACKING OUR WEATHER

WEATHER is a matter all people talk about, but very little is done about it, as observed by Mark Twain. Scientists have come to the conclusion that our storms and fair weather have their beginnings in the polar regions north of Alaska.

THE controversy stirred up by MacMillan, who favors small men and not large men, has caused the Anoka Herald to remark that "the smallest men we can think of just now are those who pilfer the children's bank for cigar money, those who fail to pay their subscriptions to their home town newspaper and those who fail to return borrowed umbrellas."

THE first requisite of a garden, says a distinguished contemporary, is a lot of tools such as a spade, a rake, a hoe, etc., etc. Wrong, Mr. Hardware Man. The first requisite is a wife who tells you what to do and leads you out to the patch and says: "I'm going to have my garden right here."

No "Walking Stick" Snake

The biological survey says that there is no snake known as the walking stick. This, however, is an insect of the orthopterous family Phasmidae, especially one of those forms destitute of wings, in which the body is long, slender and cylindrical like a small stick, the legs being slender and delicate, and resembling little twigs.

Precious Metals

Statisticians compile some enormous figures at times when they are seeking a total for something, as for instance the amount of gold and silver in circulation in the world, or if not in circulation, accounted for. They have set forth that the value of gold is, roughly speaking, $18,100,574,536, whereas the value of silver is about $16,256,913,158.

U GETS $245,000 FOR INFANT STUDY

CHILD WELFARE INSTITUTE TO BE ESTABLISHED FOR FIVE YEARS

St. Paul, April 20.—A child welfare institute will be established at the University of Minnesota next fall.

It will be financed by a gift of $245,000 received from the Laura Belman Rockefeller memorial fund and will be operated for at least five years.

The institute will be unique among educational research ventures. Its main problems will be to study the physical development, psychology and methods of teaching children from 2 weeks to 5 years old.

Workers will also study relationship of the child to his social environment, his playthings, playmates, and members of his family, according to an announcement made today by F. J. Kelly, dean of administration.

An infant's home in which will be placed a small number of infants, and a day nursery school in which children up to the age of about 5 years will be studied, is to be established.

Of the gift announced today $49,000 will be available annually for five years. Five thousand dollars will be available immediately.

'IDLEWOOD' BAD NAME FOR A COLLEGE TOWN

(By United Press)
University Heights Village, O., April 20.—This is a new town near Cleveland—insofar as the map is concerned.

But physically, this town has been here for some time. It was listed as Idlewood.

Residents disliked the name "Idlewood." For an upstanding, progressive town, boasting a university, it had the wrong cognomen. Who would want to send their sons to Idlewood to college, they asked one another.

So the other day Judge James B. Ruhl acted on a petition signed by most of the residents and changed the name to University Heights Village.

John Carroll University and Notre Dame Academy are located here.

Origin of "Pan Out"

This expression had its origin among gold miners. The pan used by miners is a circular pan with sloping sides. In this gold is separated from earth or gravel by twisting or shaking it with water. If gold is found the miners say the gravel or sand "pans out" well. But if no gold or very little gold is found the earth does not "pan out." Hence the expression came to be applied to anything from which a result is expected.—Exchange.

The City Council levies each year 3 mills on the assessed valuation to cover the cost of fire service, as hydrant rental, and the cost of electric current and maintenance for street lighting. The Council would designate where the street lights should go, but usually paid little regard as to whether the fund was sufficient to pay for the increases. A few years ago, the Water and Light Board supported an amendment to the charter increasing this rate, because it was shown that the sum raised was only half large enough to pay adequately for the service. It was voted down, and in doing so, the taxpayer shifted a part of his burden upon the Board.

Now that the Council has actually passed this problem to the Board, the Board must re-arrange the present expensive and cumbersome system in order to reduce the cost of maintenance; at the same time, the city will have better street illumination.

In connection with the improvements to be made in our street lighting system, we should bring to the attention of our citizens a very important matter. It is well known to all that if a system is not kept up, it will deteriorate very rapidly. A few dollars spent today in proper upkeep will save several hundred a few years from now.

The city's 3 mill fund for hydrant rental and street lighting yields less than $9,000. Assume that one-half goes to the water department and one-half to the light department. It is easy to see that $4,500 would barely pay for the current and leaves nothing for upkeep and extensions.

The Water and Light Board has accepted from the Council the work of remaking the street lighting system; and instead of having the Council float a bond issue or amend the charter, the Board is taking the money needed out of its earnings and with it is putting our street lighting into good order.

Some people wonder what the Board does with its earnings. It has made a water main extension into West Brainerd and carried the load instead of selling bonds which had been voted by the citizens, and now, as another example, it is rebuilding the lighting system before it becomes necessary for the Council to raise money by voting bonds.

TRACKING OUR WEATHER

WEATHER is a matter all people talk about, but very little is done about it, as observed by Mark Twain. Scientists have come to the conclusion that our storms and fair weather have their beginnings in the polar regions north of Alaska.

THE controversy stirred up by MacMillan, who favors small men and not large men, has caused the Anoka Herald to remark that "the smallest men we can think of just now are those who pilfer the children's bank for cigar money, those who fail to pay their subscriptions to their home town newspaper and those who fail to return borrowed umbrellas."

THE first requisite of a garden, says a distinguished contemporary, is a lot of tools such as a spade, a rake, a hoe, etc., etc. Wrong, Mr. Hardware Man. The first requisite is a wife who tells you what to do and leads you out to the patch and says: "I'm going to have my garden right here."

No "Walking Stick" Snake

The biological survey says that there is no snake known as the walking stick. This, however, is an insect of the orthopteran family Phasmidae, especially one of those forms destitute of wings, in which the body is long, slender and cylindrical like a small stick, the legs being slender and delicate, and resembling little twigs.

Precious Metals

Statisticians compile some enormous figures at times when they are seeking a total for something, as for instance the amount of gold and silver in circulation in the world, or if not in circulation, accounted for. They have set forth that the value of gold is, roughly speaking, $18,100,874,586, whereas the value of silver is about $16,258,913,158.

U GETS $245,000
FOR INFANT STUDYCHILD WELFARE INSTITUTE TO BE ESTABLISHED FOR FIVE

St. Paul, April 20.—A child welfare institute will be established at the University of Minnesota next fall.

It will be financed by a gift of $245,000 received from the Laura Belman Rockefeller memorial fund and will be operated for at least five years.

The institute will be unique among educational research ventures. Its main problems will be to study the physical development, psychology and methods of teaching children from 2 weeks to 5 years old.

Workers will also study relationship of the child to his social environment, his playthings, playmate, and members of his family, according to an announcement made today by E. J. Kelly, dean of administration.

An infant's home in which will be placed a small number of infants, and a day nursery school in which children up to the age of about 5 years will be studied, is to be established.

'IDLEWOOD' BAD NAME
FOR A COLLEGE TOWN

(By United Press)
University Heights Village, O., April 20.—This is a new town near Cleveland—insofar as the map is concerned. But physically, this town has been here for some time. It was listed as Idlewood.

Residents disliked the name "Idlewood." For an upstanding, progressive town, boasting a university, it had the wrong cognomen. Who would want to send their sons to Idlewood to college, they asked one another.

So the other day Judge James B. Ruhl acted on a petition signed by most of the residents and changed the name to University Heights Village.

John Carroll University and Notre Dame Academy are located here.

Origin of "Pan Out"

This expression had its origin among gold miners. The pan used by miners is a circular pan with sloping sides. In this gold is separated from earth or gravel by twirling or shaking it with water. If gold is found the miners say the gravel or sand "pans out" well. But if no gold or very little gold is found the earth does not "pan out." Hence the expression came to be applied to anything from which a result is expected.—Exchange.

Apple in High Place as Family Physician

This is what an apple does to one:
It starts all the secretions into vigorous action and floods the system with a new tide of life.

It is a friend to health and a foe to disease.

It is a food, tonic, condiment and cosmetic all in one.

It kindles the brilliancy of the eye, and it plants roses in the cheeks.

You cannot eat too many—after the heartiest meal there is always room for an apple.

An apple is a social fruit; it draws human beings together in fellowship.

Plenty of good apples will keep the children at home and in at night—husbands as well—and keep the doctor away.

It promotes temperance.

It appears on our table in many appetizing forms.

Raw fruit, as it comes fresh and crisp from the trees and the refrigerators, needs no culinary art to improve it.

A knife spoils it; let it be crushed and crunched in the mouth, and then it gives out its richest flavor and yields the greatest satisfaction.

The apple family contains in its varieties exquisite flavors adapted to all tastes.

It is the oldest of our known food necessities.—American Pomological Society Bulletin.

Cook Did Her Best, but Big Egg Wouldn't Boil

The often embarrassing trick that Chinese servants have of obeying an order literally is well known. The classic example perhaps is that of the cook who, once observing his mistress who was making cake throw away a spoiled egg, ever afterward cast aside an egg when he was making that particular kind of cake. A contributor sends us this amusing anecdote of a servant, not Chinese, but negro, who did her best to do exactly as she was told:

A New England woman who had recently moved to a remote South Carolina plantation home handed an egg and a small minute glass to the old colored cook who was part of the estate and said to her, "Boil this by the glass until it runs through three times."

In a little while the woman stepped into the kitchen and asked whether the egg were not ready.

"Law, no, Miss 'Melia," was the astonishing reply. "I bile um right side an' side wid de leetle wasp-wais' bottle, but dis big egg ain't able to run troo um de fust time yet!"—Youth's Companion.

Irish Wake

A wake is a vigil with a corpse. The word is derived from "wacum," Anglo-Saxon for watching. It is still customary in many countries for friends and neighbors of the deceased to sit up nights with the corpse until it is buried. The custom probably originated in the ancient superstition that unless carefully guarded a corpse was in danger of being carried away by spirits from Hades. The Irish wake is especially notorious. In some parts of Ireland those remaining up nights with a corpse spend the time in drinking, dancing and telling jokes and stories. It is a highly festive occasion. Grace Greenwood in her "Stories of Travel" has this to say about the Irish wake: "A wake, sure it's an entertainment a man gives after he is dead, when his disconsolate friends all assemble at his house, to discuss his virtues and drink his pooten."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Dignities in Store

The dignities that confront the elder brother are usually appalling to the small sister, and there is a little girl in Baltimore who has been giving to the subject much careful attention. She electrified the family at breakfast on one occasion by announcing:

"Next year Samuel will be a lawn mower. I wonder why they call him that."

"A lawn mower?" echoed the astonished mother. "What do you mean?"

"That is what you told me," replied the little maid, gravely. "This year he was a freshman. Next year he'll be a lawn mower, and then a janitor and then a senior. And then he'll graduate."

First Wireless Messages

A record has been discovered of alleged wireless telegraphy as long ago as 1662. In that year a book by P. de l'Ancre was published, in which the author reported that a man had demonstrated to King Henry of Germany a means of communicating with absent persons. The inventor rubbed two needles against a magnet, and attached them to different clocks. As an operator turned the needle on one clock dial the needle on the other made the same movement, regardless of the distances which separated the clocks. King Henry, it is stated, forbade the publication of the invention!

Time at the Poles

The Naval observatory says the phrase "local mean time" has no meaning at the poles; but the common practice all over the earth is not to keep local mean time, but that of some meridian passing near the place. In the United States the time is that of the seventy-fifth, ninety-fifth, one hundred and twentieth meridian. At the poles, as elsewhere, some meridian would have to be agreed upon. From a purely theoretical standpoint, one meridian would be as good as another.

Paper Cups and Dishes Made by Electricity

Exemplifying the many diversified applications of electricity, ingenious machines are now used for making paper cups and dishes by a manufacturing concern in Brooklyn. The creation of these paper cups is an interesting process. Mechanical fingers on an ingenious electric-driven machine pick up a single disk of fine quality paper and place it in a section of the machine for pressing. This pressing gives the cup its shape, plaiting the sides for strength and rigidity. The piece is then transferred to another unit of the same machine, where it is sterilized by heating.

When the second step has been completed, the cup has assumed its final form with plaited sides, natural curved lip and tumbler shape. But, as a measure of added efficiency, it is put through a third process, being sprayed with hot paraffin, which seals the plaits and gives increased rigidity and crispness. From this point the cup passes into a baking chamber, where the paraffin is drained off. The finished cups are carried along on an endless conveyor past a fan, the breeze from which hastens drying.

Relieves Workers of Stigma of Suspicion

To save workers in factories which employ in their products gold, silver, or precious stones from suffering the indignity of being selected for searching, a Danish engineer has invented a special apparatus.

Hitherto, the custom has been to stop a certain proportion of the workers leaving such factories at night, thus apparently casting suspicion upon the individuals selected. By the new invention the worker asked to adjourn to the searching-room is chosen by a machine.

The apparatus consists of a container holding a number of balls, corresponding to the number of workers engaged in the factory. Some of the balls are made of a material conductive of electricity. As the workers pass to the exit they press a button, when a ball is released. It rolls out of the container and a white lamp glows for a moment. In such case the worker passes on.

Should one of the conducting spheres roll out, the electric current turns on a red lamp, which means that the person indicated is one of those to be searched.

Wife Was His Memory

"Your story of the absent-minded minister," writes a contributor to the Youth's Companion, "reminds me of a minister whom I knew in a little Wisconsin town many years ago. He had a wretched memory, but for all that he was nothing less than a saint."

His absent-mindedness was chronic. He seldom could remember his text, and, being averse to notes, he depended on his good wife to come to his rescue. He would lean over the pulpit and say, "What was my text for today, my dear?"

"She would tell him, and he would then proceed to preach a fine sermon from it."

"One Sunday after the singing of the second hymn he opened his Bible and, leaning down, made the usual request: 'My text for today, my dear?'"

"I don't know, I'm sure," composedly replied his wife. "You forgot to tell me!"

Butterless Land

The supply of fluid milk in the Dominican republic is fairly adequate, and although it is in general use for adults, modern methods of production and distribution do not prevail. A large amount of condensed, evaporated and powdered milk is imported into the country each year and one of the other of these preserved milks is always used for infant feeding. No butter is made anywhere in the republic and the demand for this commodity in the local market is met by importations chiefly from the United States and Denmark.—New York Times.

She Pitied the Lion

Uncle had just returned home from an expedition into Africa after big game, says the Tatler; he was delighting all the family with stirring tales of adventure in the jungle.

"One of my beaters was so savagely bitten by a lion once," he announced, "that he had to have his arm amputated."

There was a short silence while the information sank in, and then the small daughter of the house said in a sympathetic voice:

"What a pity, uncle; the poor lion must just as well have had it."

Skis and Snowshoes

Owing to the thick forests of America the snowshoe has been found to be more suitable for use than the ski, which is preferred in less wooded regions. The large, flat surface of the snowshoe furnishes a larger plane of resistance to the soft snow and by distributing the weight of the wearer over a larger surface does not break the brittle crust on top of the snow, which makes progress without snowshoes impossible.

"A Little Learning," Etc

Some people imagine there's nothing more to learn. They know it all and cannot be told anything more. They not only stand still while the world goes forward, but, awakened to this fact, blame the world instead of themselves. They don't know enough to place blame where it belongs.—Grit.

"Let's be grateful for the thoughtfulness of our Creator in giving us bodies naked, so that we could dress and ornament them as we choose."

John Barrymore plays the title role in "Beau Brummel," the screen adaptation of the Clyde Fitch play, coming to the New Park on Tuesday and Wednesday. "Meanest Man in Pictures" Cast in Latest Paramount

Sheldon Lewis, sometimes called "the meanest man in pictures" lends his villainous film personality to one of the featured roles in George Meifford's Paramount production, "The Top of the World." Anna Q. Nilsson, James Kirkwood and Raymond Hatton are the other three sterling players with whom he shares acting honors, at the New Park last time tonight.

Lewis' role is that of Dr. Saul Kieff, a vicious, unscrupulous physician, who uses his skill and medical knowledge to further his own sinister designs.

"It is the first time," Lewis commented, "that I ever played a part without a spark of self-respect or one tiny redeeming trait."

An honest man's word

More than three hundred years ago, Miguel de Cervantes said: "An honest man's word is as good as his bond." Advertisers must be honest men, if they would remain advertisers. Their announcements are signed. They must tell the truth in their advertising. For their own protection, as well as yours.

What would it profit a man to advertise "Pure, virgin-wool suits," only to have you discover they were shoddy? You would soon separate the sheep from the cotton. And you would never deal with that man again. And, further, you would tell all your acquaintances what a skinflint he was.

As a matter of business, if not of personal principle, an advertiser must tell the truth in his signed announcements. That's what makes the advertising columns of this paper such reliable guides to honest merchandise. The printed announcements are bonds between you and the advertiser.

Read the advertisements. Read them regularly. To be informed on the newest and best in everything. To save hours of shopping. To make the family purse do a bigger, better job. To get goods of known quality at the most attractive price.

You would not plan a motor trip without first consulting road-maps and guide-books. Is it logical to plan a shopping trip without first consulting the advertisements? Read the advertisements. Then go to the stores with your mind more than half made up.

A signed advertisement is, in effect, a sealed bond between you and the advertiser

When the second step has been completed, the cup has assumed its final form with plaited sides, natural curved lip and tumbler shape. But, as a measure of added efficiency, it is put through a third process, being sprayed with hot paraffin, which seals the plait and gives increased rigidity and crispness. From this point the cup passes into a baking chamber, where the paraffin is drained off. The finished cups are carried along on an endless conveyor past a fan, the breeze from which hastens drying.

Relieves Workers of Stigma of Suspicion

To save workers in factories which employ in their products gold, silver, or precious stones from suffering the indignity of being selected for searching, a Danish engineer has invented a special apparatus.

Hitherto, the custom has been to stop a certain proportion of the workers leaving such factories at night, thus apparently casting suspicion upon the individuals selected. By the new invention the worker asked to adjourn to the searching-room is chosen by a machine.

The apparatus consists of a container holding a number of balls, corresponding to the number of workers engaged in the factory. Some of the balls are made of a material conductive of electricity. As the workers pass to the exit they press a button, when a ball is released. It rolls out of the container and a white lamp glows for a moment. In such case the worker passes on.

Should one of the conducting spheres roll out, the electric current turns on a red lamp, which means that the person indicated is one of those to be searched.

Wife Was His Memory

"Your story of the absent-minded minister," writes a contributor to the Youth's Companion, "reminds me of a minister whom I knew in a little Wisconsin town many years ago. He had a wretched memory, but for all that he was nothing less than a saint."

"His absent-mindedness was chronic. He seldom could remember his text, and, being averse to notes, he depended on his good wife to come to his rescue. He would lean over the pulpit and say, 'What was my text for today, my dear?'"

"She would tell him, and he would then proceed to preach a fine sermon from it."

"One Sunday after the singing of the second hymn he opened his Bible and, leaning down, made the usual request: 'My text for today, my dear?'"

"I don't know, I'm sure," composedly replied his wife. 'You forgot to tell me!'"

Butterless Land

The supply of fluid milk in the Dominican republic is fairly adequate, and although it is in general use for adults, modern methods of production and distribution do not prevail. A large amount of condensed, evaporated and powdered milk is imported into the country each year and one of the other of these preserved milks is always used for infant feeding. No butter is made anywhere in the republic and the demand for this commodity in the local market is met by importations chiefly from the United States and Denmark. — New York Times.

She Pitied the Lion

Uncle had just returned home from an expedition into Africa after big game, says the Tatler; he was delighting all the family with stirring tales of adventure in the jungle.

"One of my beaters was so savagely bitten by a lion once," he announced, "that he had to have his arm amputated."

There was a short silence while the information sank in, and then the small daughter of the house said in a sympathetic voice:

"What a pity, uncle; the poor lion must just as well have had it."

Skis and Snowshoes

Owing to the thick forests of America the snowshoe has been found to be more suitable for use than the ski, which is preferred in less wooded regions. The large, flat surface of the snowshoe furnishes a larger plane of resistance to the soft snow and by distributing the weight of the wearer over a larger surface does not break the brittle crust on top of the snow, which makes progress without snowshoes impossible.

"A Little Learning," Etc

Some people imagine there's nothing more to learn. They know it all and cannot be told anything more. They not only stand still while the world goes forward, but, awakened to this fact, blame the world instead of themselves. They don't know enough to place blame where it belongs. — Grit.

JOHN BARRYMORE and IRENE RICH in the WARNER CLASSIC "BEAU BRUMMEL"

Beau's Motto Was "Clothes First and Last"

A little artificial, this sentiment, eh? Agreed! But not for a soul that is the flower of artificiality, Beau Brummel, to wit, the last word in clothes, and in presenting to the world a smooth sartorial surface.

John Barrymore plays the title role in "Beau Brummel," the screen adaptation of the Clyde Fitch play, coming to the New Park on Tuesday and Wednesday. It is a Warner Brothers' Classic of the Screen with an unusual supporting cast, consisting of Mary Astor, Willard Louis, Irene Rich, Alec B. Francis, Carmel Myers and others equally well known.

"Meanest Man in Pictures" Cast in Latest Paramount

Sheldon Lewis, sometimes called "the meanest man in pictures" lends his villainous film personality to one of the featured roles in George Melford's Paramount production, "The Top of the World." Anna Q. Nilsson, James Kirkwood and Raymond Hatton are the other three sterling players with whom he shares acting honors, at the New Park last time tonight.

Lewis' role is that of Dr. Saul Kieff, a vicious, unscrupulous physician, who uses his skill and medical knowledge to further his own sinister designs.

NEURITIS SUPREME TEST FOR BURMA-VITA

This is written with a full knowledge that chronic neuritis is the "toughest proposition" of them all. Chronic neuritis furnishes the supreme test for Burma-Vita. Rub the painful spot gently with lots of Burma-Vita. Apply large bath towel wrung out of hot water. Repeat several times. The trouble lies in very deep—nothing less powerful or penetrating than Burma-Vita would reach the spot. Neuritis furnishes the supreme test—Burma-Vita accepts the challenge. Druggists, 50c.—Adv.

Skaugs Drug Co. Brainerd, Minn. Gentlemen:

On Monday March 23, I sent you one dollar for which you was to send me one bottle of Skaugs Stomach Remedy, and I received the bottle yesterday, but it was all smashed and all the medicine had run out.

I saw the post master at Osakis about it today, and he said that I should write to you people, as he said it had not been properly wrapped, and the post master at Brainerd should not have accepted same.

Now I am a poor man and I do not like to pay for that bottle twice, but I need the medicine very bad so please send me another bottle.

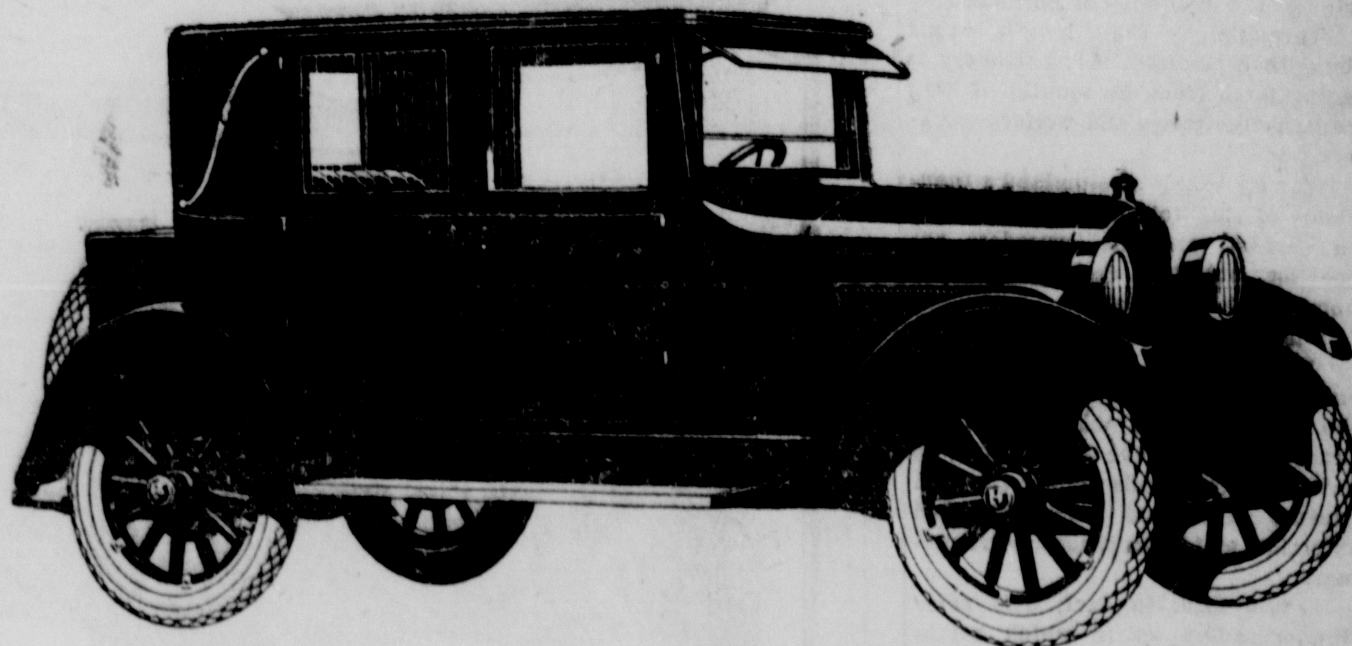

It is the only medicine that has helped me. I have suffered with stomach trouble for a number of years.

You may use this letter that I am writing you, as your medicine sure have done wonders for me, I have also told others about it, and will continue to do so.

I remain, Yours very truly, HENRY SWENO, Osakis, Minn., Rt. 2

An honest man's word

More than three hundred years ago, Miguel de Cervantes said: "An honest man's word is as good as his bond." Advertisers must be honest men, if they would remain advertisers. Their announcements are signed. They must tell the truth in their advertising. For their own protection, as well as yours.

What would it profit a man to advertise "Pure, virgin-wool suits," only to have you discover they were shoddy? You would soon separate the sheep from the cotton. And you would never deal with that man again. And, further, you would tell all your acquaintances what a skinflint he was.

As a matter of business, if not of personal principle, an advertiser must tell the truth in his signed announcements. That's what makes the advertising columns of this paper such reliable guides to honest merchandise. The printed announcements are bonds between you and the advertiser.

Read the advertisements. Read them regularly. To be informed on the newest and best in everything. To save hours of shopping. To make the family purse do a bigger, better job. To get goods of known quality at the most attractive price.

You would not plan a motor trip without first consulting road-maps and guide-books. Is it logical to plan a shopping trip without first consulting the advertisements? Read the advertisements. Then go to the stores with your mind more than half made up.

A signed advertisement is, in effect, a sealed bond between you and the advertiser

DECLARE WAR ON ENGLISH SLUMS

CHURCH AND WELFARE WORK- ERS HEAD MOVEMENT INAUGURATED

By CLIFFORD L. DAY
(United Press Staff Correspondent) London, April 20.—"Down with slums, the hell-hole of childhood!"
Throughout the length and breadth of Britain, this battle-cry is going forth from the mouths of high church dignitaries and welfare workers.

War on behalf of slumland's thousands of tiny tots has been declared in earnest, and the crusaders are sparing nobody's feelings in the home truths they tell.

Fuel has been added to their fire by a remarkable series of high-society scandals recently appearing in the law courts, in which enormous sums of money have been shown to have changed hands among the rich because of alleged immorality and extortion amid sumptuous surroundings.

It was also, in fact, this same slum-crussading spirit which ostensibly animated the recent extremists' attack in the House of Commons on further expenditure of state funds for tours of the Prince of Wales.

"Petted poodles and pampered Pekingese are considered more worth consideration than children in city slums," declared Canon Little, a vicar of Blackpool, in a speech at this fashionable seaside resort.

Mrs. George Cadbury, wife of the famous cocoa manufacturer, also has joined the fight.

Denouncing the way money is being spent on other things than houses, in a speech before the National Free Church Council Conference at Leeds, Mrs. Cadbury dramatically concluded:

"What about the $2,000,000,000 of our drink bill? What about national expenditure on armaments?"

"We ought to send forth a trumpet call to the whole of the kingdom, announcing that the Church of Christ cannot any longer tolerate the awful slum conditions in all our big cities."

Dean Inge of St. Paul's cathedral, known as London's "gloomy dean," has contributed a bit to the campaign fire-works by deploring Britain's method of filling up the slums with undesirable children.

"We are not breeding from our best stock, but rather from our worst," the dean asserted. "You cannot increase population merely by having large families. Every unwanted baby drives another baby out of the world or prevents it coming into it."

A little more bombardment all around, and it is likely Premier Stanley Baldwin's government will find themselves in decidedly hot water unless something big is done to satisfy the widespread and acute demand for alleviation of the housing shortage and slum conditions.

HIGHWAYS IN GOOD CONDITION

St. Paul, April 20. — Minnesota trunk highways—the 7,000-mile system of "Babcock roads" marked with official numbers on yellow stars—as reported in a bulletin from the state highway department are probably in better condition now than at this time in any past year.

With the early spring break-up, came favorable weather enabling the highway maintenance forces to speed normal conditions generally, the bulletin states. The greatest mileage system is in good shape and road-users are having little difficulty save where frost-boils or soft, spongy stretchers slow their pace.

The bulletin, insofar as it refers to the Brainerd Lake Region:

T. H. No. 2—Duluth, Brainerd,

leton, fair on to McGregor, passable

Wadena, and good on through Detroit to Moorhead.

T. H. No. 18—Elk River, Milaca,

Good from Elk River through Princeton to Milaca, fair to Page, poor to Onamia, and good to Garrison.

Hudson-Essex Builds 250'000 Coaches In Three Years

These cars illustrate three phases of automobile progress. Upper left shows first Hudson car ever built—without top, without windshield, without many things motorists have today. The upper right is the famous first Essex coach—the grand-daddy of the closed-cars-at-open-car-prices idea. Below is a special photograph of the 250,000th coach built just a few days ago.

A quarter of a million coaches in three years!

This is the record reported by the Hudson Motor Car Co., which originated the coach type of car late in 1921. Up to that time enclosed cars had cost the motorist about $1,000 more than an open one. Now open and enclosed ones sell at about the same figure. Hudson-Essex has maintained its leadership by offering the coaches at actually less than the touring cars.

Nine out of every ten Hudson-Essex cars made is a coach.
This is said to be the greatest example of specialization in the motor car industry. Just recently the 250,000th coach was made.

fifteen minutes' hard work unravelling traffic at the height of an afternoon rush.

The pup was trotting unconcernedly across the street intersection in the downtown district when the flea went into action. The pup hesitated, gazed at his tail and walked toward the scene of trouble with his front feet. As the arc of his body grew smaller, the tail moved away.
Quickening the pace, the pup advanced to the pinwheel stage, attracting pedestrians, who jammed the street.

The traffic policeman whistled frantically as the mob grew, then plunged to the center to learn the cause. Grasping the whirling pup, the policeman held the tail-end stationary, while the pilot end completed its original plan of action.

With the stump tail pointing jauntily upward, the pup trotted on his way.

OHIO TAKING A LEADING PART IN TREE PLANTING

(By United Press)

Washington, April 17.—With Ohio leading with a state wide Arbor Day program by radio from the University at Columbus, the tree planting arm of the U. S. will be in the trenches for the next two weeks.

Lorain, where a tornado did so much damage last year, is the leading tree planting town of the state, according to reports to the American Tree Association. Through the public schools, the citizens are co-operating in a "comeback for city beautification" that has been equalled seldom, the association says. Seven thousand applications for membership in the association have been made from Lorain.

The only way to join this association is to plant a tree and register it on the national honor roll.
Mrs. W. W. Milar of Akron, O., the chairman of conservation of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, has been working since the first of the year on the Arbor Day program which is aimed to reach every home in the state.

This campaign is the most far reaching that has yet been reported to us," said Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the American Tree Association, today.

"The town forest idea is going forward in many places. The place to dom, the association says. Seven thousand applications for membership in the association have been made from Lorain.

In Michigan and Wisconsin women's clubs have tree planting to do during the week of April 27, which is American Forest Week. Since the spring drive started the American Tree Association has sent out 22,000 applications to membership. Through the national headquarters, the Camp Fire Girls are campaigning for tree planting.

LARGE INDIVIDUAL CREAM CHECK PAID

$267.15 Paid One Person by Farmers Cooperative Creamery in Month of March

SWEET CREAM SUPPLIED

Three New Cream Routes Have Been Established During the Past Month

The largest individual check paid for cream during the month of March by the Farmers Co-operative Creamery was for $267.15. The significant fact connected with this large cream check was that it was for cream that was all fresh and sweet.

Quite a number of farmers are realizing that sweet cream brings a better price, and a number have purchased coolers so that they can deliver cream that will make "Land O' Lakes" butter.

Three new cream routes have been started during the past month as another aid in bringing in the best cream in the best condition.

Following is the condensed report of the Farmers Co-operative creamery association for the month of March, as submitted to the director at their regular meeting recently:

Pounds of cream received—$3,757.
Pounds of milk received—2,753.
Total pounds of butterfat—23,026.3.

Paid for 1st grade butterfat—49¢ per pound.

Paid for 2nd grade butterfat—44¢ per pound.

Pounds of butter manufactured—28,572.

Land O' Lakes is the new name selected a year ago for the highest quality cooperative creamery butter. It must be made from strictly sweet cream and cream of only the finest flavor.

For butter to carry the Land O' Lakes trade-mark, it must score 93 or above, by Government inspection.

Five years ago not 20 per cent of the butter made in this State scored 93. Through the cooperative creameries working together in their State Association they have gotten the quality of their butter up to as high as 94 per cent Land O' Lakes.

The demand is so increased for Land O' Lakes sweet cream butter that 80 per cent of the output is now needed for that brand.

Just think of it! Up to a year ago, not a pound of Minnesota cooperative creamery butter was sold under the brand Land O' Lakes. sized train load is sold every week under the brand Land O' Lakes quality has won!

But to get enough Land O' Lakes butter and to keep the quality up to that high standard, requires not only the cooperation of the creameries, but that of the patrons. The farmers must take a hand in the work and say that this high quality butter can be produced in every cooperative creamery in the State.

Land O' Lakes must start back on the farms with the milking, and separating and cooling the cream, and washing the separator and milk utensils. Bad flavors, due to a lack of thorough cleanliness, knock cream out of the Land O' Lakes class every time.

Remember, that Land O' Lakes is the first trade-mark the farmers of Minnesota have ever owned. It would not be sold for a million dollars by the Creameries' Association today. It is worth working for.

Separate the cream with a clean separator. Cool it in cold water immediately after separating. Get the cream to the creamery 4 times a week in warm weather (by hauling with the neighbors). Whitewash the barn. Let us have Land O' Lakes dairy farms.

Make Land O' Lakes the greatest trade-mark of any food product in the world. It can be done.

There was a good attendance, and visitors were present from Crosby and Deerwood. After the regular order of business, delicious refreshments were served by Miss Himrod.

There will be election of officers at the next meeting of the chapter, which will be held at the home of Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone, in May.

COUNTY ROADS ARE INSPECTED

County Commissioners Also Visit Deerwood Sanatorium Sunday

ROADS IN FAIR CONDITION
Recent Rains Have Greatly Improved Nearly All Thoroughfares

The county commissioners made an inspection of county roads and of the Deerwood sanatorium on Sunday.

Roads throughout the county are all in very fair condition, and will be improved with the recent rains. One and one-half miles of the cut-off on State Road No. 2 has been graded and is now ready for graveling. The balance of the three miles will be completed within six weeks under favorable conditions, it is said.

P. J. Roark has the contract on this road, and A. B. Peterson, of Little Falls, has the contract for the cement bridge over Daggett Brook in Platte Lake township, his bid being $2,590.

State Road No. 3, Brainerd, Merrifield, Cross Lake and Emily, a part of which was reconstructed last season, is in excellent condition its entire length. Watertown township has recently completed a town road, connecting with State Road No. 3 at Cross Lake, and running north, over the old railroad grade toward Longville. A new bridge one and one-half miles north of Cross Lake on this road has just been completed and accepted by the county. The township of Watertown filled in the approaches to this bridge and it is now open to travel. This road opens up a new territory in the northern part of the county, and connects it with the main highway to Brainerd.

State Road No. 4, from Crosby north to Emily and Outing is reported as being in good condition. The road from Crosby to the Mississippi river is under construction, and detours are made through Manganese.

State Road No. 5, from Deerwood south through Bay lake to the Workman corner on Trunk Highway No. 18 is in fair shape, with a few rough places.

The commissioners on Sunday also inspected a township road that begins on Trunk Highway No. 2, where it turns north into Ironton, and goes east to Deerwood. This affords a cut-off saving about four miles to motorists traveling to Deerwood and Aitkin who do not wish to pass through the range towns. The road was found in excellent condition.

The "Inland Trail" from Merrifield to Breezy Point is in fine shape. This road, while being a very scenic route, shortens the distance between Brainerd and Breezy Point about seven miles in comparison with the road around by way of Pequot.

Trunk Highways throughout the county are said to be in very good condition, considering the fact that there has been little rain so far this season. The majority of the roads closed to heavy vehicles while the frost was coming out of the ground, have been opened again to this class of traffic.

THE NEAR EAST CLOTHING DRIVE

May 5 to 15 is Date Set for the Campaign in State of Minnesota

ALL AGENCIES ASKED TO AID

Old Clothing, Overcoats, Blankets, Shoes Are Among Articles Requested

May 5th to 15th is the date set for the Near East clothing campaign in Minnesota. Brainerd churches, schools, lodges and clubs are requested to collect spare clothing to help clothe the near-naked of the Near East. Old clothing, overcoats, blankets, shoes, anything that has any power to keep out the cold is wanted.

Winters in the Near East are every bit as severe as these in the United States, relief workers report. The thermometer often touches zero and sometimes registers as much as fifteen and twenty degrees below. When this happens the suffering of the half-clad refugees becomes intense. Shivering and chattering in the bleak winds and driving snowstorms, the miserable people huddle together in forlorn groups and try to keep each other warm. Many perish every winter from no other cause than cold.

The only hope these people have lies in the Near East Relief. At the first sign of cold weather the American relief workers set up distributing stations at which warm coats and blankets are given out. Only there is never enough to go around, never enough for everybody.

"I could have cried with shame and mortification," said a returned relief worker, "when I saw a little girl not more than six years old, clad in a few strips of burlap, nothing else, bravely fighting her way through the deep snow toward a relief station. I thought of all the warm garments lying discarded and forgotten in the closets and attics of America and somehow it all seemed so wrong and wasteful."

NOTICE

All candidates for the DeMolay baseball team are requested to be present with all possible equipment on Tuesday at 4:30 o'clock p. m., at the Main street grounds for the first practice.

WHY FEW COLLEGE B.P. PLAYERS MAKE GOOD

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Editor)

New York, April 20.—Considering the mental equipment that they should possess, the opportunity for a technical education from three to four years under an experienced teacher and the financial inducements for success, it is rather strange that so few of the college baseball players who hit the big leagues are able to remain there.

The list of college players who have made good in the major leagues has been printed so many times that it should have been memorized long ago. The outstanding examples are Eddie Collins, manager of the Chicago White Sox, George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Browns, and Frankie Frisch, captain and star second baseman for the New York Giants.

There are others that might be mentioned, but the list of successes is dwarfed by the pages of those who tried and failed.

There must be a reason why so many college men cannot play baseball against players who have had no educational advantages—players almost of the Babe Ruth type, who came from an orphan asylum and became the most discussed star in the history of baseball.

It ought to be reasonable that a young man with a college degree should be a smarter and better ball player—granting that he had some natural ability of course—than a lesser educated player of the old rough and ready days.

Some major league scouts who spend their summers traveling from college to college will tell you that it is the possession of brains that handicaps a college player, that he tries to think too much and pays too much attention to "inside baseball."

Most of the college baseball teams are coached by former major league players. The case of Holy Cross, coached by Jack Barry, is a good example. There are more scouts checking in and out of Worcester during the baseball season to look over Barry's boys than there are in any other college town of the country, especially since the baseball magnates began to realize that the college player was a good type for the game.

CHARLES H. EBBETS, DODGER OWNER DEAD

DEAN OF NATIONAL LEAGUE MAGNATES VICTIM OF HEART DISEASE

New York, April 20.—Charles H. Ebbets, president and part owner of the Brooklyn baseball club of the National league, died here Saturday morning.

Ebbets had been troubled with heart disease for many years and was confined to his hotel since his return from Clearwater, Fla., this spring.

It was thought he was progressing satisfactorily until he suffered a relapse, and his son, Charles H. Ebbets, Jr., and daughter, Genevieve Ebbets, were called to his bedside.

Ebbets accompanied his team to its training camp at Clearwater, Fla., hoping to benefit from the warm climate there. His trip south, according to physicians, did him no good.

First intimation that Ebbets was sinking came with the statement made last night by Dr. Robert Adams. "Mr. Ebbets is a very, very sick man," he said, "he has been troubled with heart disease for many years, but never before has his condition been so serious. I consider him to be in immediate danger."

Ebbets was the dean of the major league owners and was one of the original men in organized baseball. He was born in New York on Oct. 29, 1859, and attended the public schools. His first work was in the shipyards where he held a clerical position. When the Brooklyn baseball club was organized in 1883 he secured a position as bookkeeper at a salary of $75 a month. In January, 1898, Charles A. Byrne, president of the Brooklyn club, died, and Ebbets was elected in his place and had served in that capacity up to the time of his death.

In addition to being a competent business man, Ebbets was a great fan. He always accompanied his team on the road and he was never missing at the minor league meetings where he became noted for one remark that was always stressed in his talks: "Baseball is still in its infancy."

During the days of the Federal league and during the war, the Brooklyn club faced stormy financial days and several times was on the point of failure, but Ebbets was always able to secure backing and now the Brooklyn franchise is one of the most valuable in the major leagues.

It was understood that the National league would call off all games scheduled for the day of the funeral. Funeral services are to be held Tuesday afternoon from the residence in Brooklyn.

Names to Live Up To

Two youngsters will be in the Southern league this spring who will try to perpetuate the great names of their fathers in baseball. One is Frank Bowerman, Jr., son of the old rough-and-ready catcher of the Giants, who gets a trial with Chattanooga, and the other Howard Burkett, son of Jess Burkett, the old Cleveland and St. Louis player, who is now manager of the Worcester Eastern league club. There is no little sentiment connected with young Bowerman's going to Chattanooga. Strang Nicklin, who runs that club, played with the old Giants under the name of Strang. In sending his boy to Nicklin, the veteran Bowerman remarked in a letter: "I know of no one to whom I would rather trust the future of my boy than you."

Owner and Walter Johnson at Yankees' Opening; President Heydler and Boston Mayor "Warm Up"

The lower photograph shows Co. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, and Walter Johnson, Washington's veteran pitcher, at the Yankee Stadium for the opening game of the pennant season between the Yankees and the Senators. In the other photo John A. Heydler, president of the National League, is shown swinging a bat and Mayor Curley catching in a bit of fun before the opening of the National League season at Boston with a game between the Braves and the Giants.

Veteran Sam Rice Made Nine Jaunts to the Pan

Sam Rice, veteran outfielder of the Washington Nationals, is believed to be the holder of the record for the greatest number of times "at bat" in a single baseball game. Rice was at bat nine times in a game July 10, between the Senators and Browns which went 16 innings, with the Browns victors 10 to 9.

Checking over the 1924 American league records revealed that the Washington fly catcher smashed out four hits, two of which were triples, in his nine trips to the plate. The only records available are for games of nine innings. The National league records show a number of players who were at bat eight times, while American league records show several who have been at bat seven times in a game.

The Browns used Urban Shocker and Dave Danforth on the mound during the game. 76 Nationals facing them in the afternoon. Four of these drew bases on balls, but Rice was not one of them.

Eventually, Rice carried off the sen-son's record for the greatest number of times at bat for the season. Playing in 154 games. Sam was charged with 646 times at bat. In addition, he made 16 sacrifice hits, drew 46 bases on balls and was hit four times by pitched balls.

WHY FEW COLLEGE B.B. PLAYERS MAKE GOOD

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 20.—Considering the mental equipment that they should possess, the opportunity for a technical education from three to four years under an experienced teacher and the financial inducements for success, it is rather strange that so few of the college baseball players who hit the big leagues are able to remain there.

The list of college players who have made good in the major leagues has been printed so many times that it should have been memorized long ago. The outstanding examples are Eddie Collins, manager of the Chicago White Sox, George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Browns, and Frankie Frisch, captain and star second baseman for the New York Giants.

There are others that might be mentioned, but the list of successes is dwarfed by the pages of those who tried and failed.

There must be a reason why so many college men cannot play baseball against players who have had no educational advantages—players almost of the Babe Ruth type, who came from an orphan asylum and became the most discussed star in the history of baseball.

It ought to be reasonable that a young man with a college degree should be a smarter and better ball player—granting that he had some natural ability of course—than a lesser educated player of the old rough and ready days.

Some major league scouts who spend their summers traveling from college to college will tell you that it is the possession of brains that handicaps a college player, that he tries to think too much and pays too much attention to "inside baseball."

Most of the college baseball teams are coached by former major league players. The case of Holy Cross, coached by Jack Barry, is a good example. There are more scouts checking in and out of Worcester during the baseball season to look over Barry's boys than there are in any other college town of the country, especially since the baseball magnates began to realize that the college player was a good type for the game.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.
